Creating an Account on the USPA Website

1. Go to http://www.theuspa.org and click on the link that says “Log in or Sign up” located underneath the search box in the right column.

2. Type in a username and e-mail for your new account and press the “Sign Up” button.

3. You will receive an e-mail in your inbox shortly. If it does not appear in your inbox, check your spam folder. Click on the link in the email.

4. After clicking the link from the e-mail, there will be a box with a “Login” button. Click on the “Login” button, create a password, and press the “Save” button.

5. Your account has been created and needs to be approved by an administrator. Once it is approved, you will receive an e-mail stating you have full access to the USPA website.

Today, he can be found at Hillsdale College finishing his Bachelor’s Degree in communications. He has given speeches on why we need to buy products made in the USA, and has spoken about wages and working conditions in places like Bangladesh. He has even produced a video for the school illustrating the triumphs and sacrifices facing adult learners today. “More than anything else, I’ll miss publishing the newsletter and working with the USPA,” said Galgozy. “Our newsletter kept our local connected and if nothing else, recorded our history. I love so much to the USPA and past presidents of our local for allowing me to grow and continue the newsletter tradition.”

Ernie will remain a USPA Coordinator until the 2013 USPA Conference in the spring. Below are a few of the awards he brought home to Local 1375.

- 2000 Raymond W. Pasnick Award
- 2004 Best Original Photo
- 2008 Best Feature Story
- 2010 Best Local Union Coverage
- 2010 Howard J. McCartney Award
- 2010 Best Feature Story
- 2004 Best Original Photo
- 2000 Raymond W. Pasnick Award

Continued on the back.
It's a common question before. Don't worry – maybe you've asked yourself this question before.

Why do browsers change?

Firefox tends to lead with emerging Web standards and new web design methods. Google Chrome is a big competitor with some programs. Opera is fairly fast and supports most modern CSS.

It is a good idea to have two browsers available to you, as a browser could encounter a software glitch and be unavailable. Using social media gives the traditional and social media to grow.

The growth of social media has been nothing short of phenomenal. Facebook has over one billion users since it launched in 2004. Twitter has over 520 million users since 2006 and YouTube has over 750 million unique users visit each month since it was created in 2005.

Social media has proven to be an important part of modern business operations, and cannot be ignored. It is safe to say that the future of social media and journalism will remain linked for the foreseeable future.

Groups and/or organizations, wishing to grow, should remember The Times They Are A-Changin' and consider integrating traditional and social media to enhance their communication plans.